GOVERNOR SPELLMAN PROCLAIMS NOV. 14th thru 20th as EXERCISE WEEK

Governor John Spellman may be a trifle busy to participate himself, but he cordially invites everyone in Washington State to join in "The Beat Goes On", an activity which benefits the body and the American Heart Association of Washington. This event will highlight Dance/Exercise Week, proclaimed by the Governor for November 14-20. Those wearing the official The Beat Goes On shirt include from left to right; Janet Chambers, Aerobically Yours; Alice Shepard, Aerobium; Governor John Spellman; Julie Dallas, Jazzercise; and Tere Golden, Golden Aerobics.

Exercise should be a very important part of your lifestyle.

Daily Exercise will strengthen the Body in many ways. For example: Exercise has been proven to be the most effective way to reduce many health problems, that can be avoided. Such as heartattacks, stress and tension. These are only a few.

Try a daily Exercise Routine for toning, or whatever, and see how effective it can be to both body and mind.

PACs drown out voices of the voters

Over the last decade, an elaborate mating ritual has evolved between Political Action Committees with fulsome checkbooks, and candidates with large campaign bills that need to be paid.

It can lead to illicit relationships.

This year the PACs — a polite name for special interest lobbies with money — will raise more than $80 million for congressional races. In 1972, when PACs were authorized by law as a Watergate-era reform, they raised $8.5 million.

A few candidates refuse to accept PAC money. Others court it. Some use it for more than 50 percent of their campaign expenses.

Think about that. If your congressman relies so heavily on special-interest groups, will he listen to you?

PACs protest that they're buying good will, not votes. But the line between good will and vote buying can be hair-thin. Last May, Congress killed a Federal Trade Commission proposal requiring used-car dealers to tell customers about known defects in cars they sell.

The regulation was in the public interest. But the auto dealer's PAC doled out more than $1 million in contributions, and 83 percent of those who voted against the regulation got money from that PAC. Were those congressmen listening to the PAC or to the people?

That's just one example.

The PACs are a varied lot — everything from religious zealots to blueberry growers — but they all have one thing in common: money to give. There is no Poor-PAC.

And it is absurd to think that competing PACs neutralize each other. The National Rifle Association PAC will spend $2.3 million this year; the Handgun Control PAC may raise $100,000. If it is true that money speaks the loudest, then most voters will have to settle for a whisper.

All of this means that representative democracy — the basis for republican government — is seriously threatened. Controls clearly are needed.

Presently, a PAC can give a candidate $5,000 for an election, but there is no limit on the total amount a candidate can receive from all the PACs seeking "good will." There needs to be.

A strict limit on the amount a candidate could take from PACs — a total of $75,000 per election has been proposed in Congress — would help take the price tag off congressional service.

Public financing of congressional races would further dilute the influence of PAC money.

And the dilution is crucial if this mating ritual between PACs and candidates isn't to become an unholy marriage.

CENSUS TREND: OLDER. WISER. POORER

Americans are getting older, poorer, better educated and more likely to work in white-collar jobs, the Census Bureau reported Tuesday.

They also are less likely to marry and stay married.

The trends will require major adjustments in all aspects of American society -- education, business, housing, finance, health care, transportation and government, said Leon Bouvier, research director of Population Reference Bureau Inc.

For Example:

In the Northeast, where population grew by less than 1 percent in 1981, more schools will close.

In the South and West, where metropolitan areas grew by more than 20 percent, demands for roads, police protection, sewers and schools are on the rise.

The Baby Boom generation is in the 15-34 age group, so housing demand will grow.

As children of the Baby Boom get older, demand for health care facilities and services will expand.

Households headed by women nearly doubled in the past decade, generating greater need for transfer payments such as food stamps, subsidized housing and Medicaid.

The 1981 Population Profile of the United States shows that the nation's population increased to 228.8 million in July 1981, a jump of 2,4 million from a year earlier but the lowest rate of increase since 1976.

"HOW CAN I HOLD MY PHONE BILL DOWN WHEN TELEPHONE RATES GO UP?"

Let's Talk.

We know you've heard about the changes coming to Pacific Northwest Bell. And we know you're probably wondering what these changes will mean to you. Particularly when it comes to rates.

Over the next few years, premium one-party flat-rate telephone service will probably cost more. The reasons for rising rates are inflation, reduced subsidy from long distance revenues caused by increased competition, and other factors.

But there are ways to keep your phone bill down. One way is to use our measured service option. With measured service, you pay only for what you use, and there is no charge for incoming calls. It offers you a choice based on your own financial situation and communication needs.

Basic measured service has a monthly telephone line fee that includes a $3 calling allowance and is suitable for the average telephone user. Outgoing calls are billed on the basis of number of calls, time of day and duration of call.

Budget measured service is a low-use measured service with a low monthly line charge and no call allowances.

With measured service, low and medium users of telephone service don't have to bear the same cost as the high user, as is the case with flat-rate service. However, premium one-party flat-rate service will still be available in your home.

Another way to keep your phone bill down is by paying attention to when you call. Taking advantage of our special low evening, night, weekend, and holiday rates can result in substantial savings.

Choosing the right service and calling at the right times are things you can do to help keep your phone bill down. On our part, we promise to do everything we can to keep rates affordable for everyone.

We'll be talking with you about rates, service, and other matters of interest to you.

In ads like this, and on television.

We know you've got questions about changes happening at Pacific Northwest Bell. And we want to make it easy for you to get answers.

So call us at 1-800-555-5000* from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday-Friday. And let's talk.

CONSOLIDATED HOSPITALS

Topping out of the 7th floor of the new Tacoma General Hospital Centennial Wing will occur this Friday at 11:30 a.m. outside the building on 'K' Street. A special ceremony will note reaching the top point in construction of the hospital's critical care tower.

Traditionally, when construction on a new building reaches the highest floor, workmen are feted with a party to applaud their work. The tradition is marked by raising a tree to the top of the building. In addition, Tacoma-General will raise a specially made white banner with a replica of the statue, "The Second Touch". The flag will remain atop the new wing commemorating the Centennial of the hospital. The original 7-ft. bronze statue will be placed in the lobby of the new wing upon its completion.

Robert Stoaks, Chairman of the Consolidated Hospitals Board of Directors, will be master of ceremonies for the Topping Out ceremony. Tacoma General is a member of the consolidated hospitals system.

The Topping Out celebration will include a meeting of officials at 11:00 am, followed by the streetside formal ceremony with a late afternoon reception for the construction workers. The Centennial Wing addition is being built by Hoffman Construction Company.

PSALM 35:
David Prays for safety from His Enemies.

PLEAD my cause, O LORD, with them that strive with me: fight against them that fight against me.

Take hold of shield and buckler, and stand up for mine help.

Draw out also the spear, and stop the way against them that persecute me: say unto my soul, I am thy salvation.

Let them be confounded and put to shame that seek after my soul: let them be turned back and brought to confusion that devise my hurt.

Let destruction come upon him at unawares; and let his net that he hath hid catch himself: into that very destruction let him fall.

And my soul shall be joyful in the LORD, who is like unto thee, which deliverest the poor from him that is too strong for him, yea, the poor and the needy from him that spoileth him?

False witnesses did rise up; they laid to my charge things that I knew not.

They rewarded me evil for good to the spoiling of my soul.

But as for me, when they were sick, my clothing was sackcloth: I humbled my soul with fasting; and my prayer returned into mine own bosom.

I behaved myself as though he had been my friend or brother: I bowed down heavily, as one that mourneth for his mother.

But in mine adversity they rejoiced, and gathered themselves together; yea, the abjects gathered themselves together against me, and I knew it not; they did tear me, and ceased not:

With hypocritical mockers in feasts, they gnashed upon me with their teeth.

Lord, how long wilt thou look on? rescue my soul from their destructions, my darling from the lions.

I will give thee thanks in the great congregation: I will praise thee among much people.

We welcome news of your church and civic events.

TACOMA COMMUNITY HOUSE

Three staff members at the Tacoma Community House have been recognized for their service to the Asian refugee community.

Sylvia McKeen, Outreach Services Coordinator, was presented with the St. Francis Humanitarian Award by St. Joseph's Hospital on October 25th. Ms. McKeen was selected for "providing loving care to all, with special concern for the poor... and enhanced by a belief in the sanctity of life and in each person's unique relationship to God and to neighbor." She has sponsored more than 200 refugees, taught English, invited homeless refugees into her home, and provided outreach service to more than 2000 refugees in Pierce County.

Robert Yamashita, Executive Director, was presented with the Outstanding Achievement Award by the Seattle Chapter of the Japanese American Citizens League. The award was given for his service to refugees. Rev. Yamashita is the chair of the Washington State Refugee Advisory Council and is an active member of the Pierce County Refugee Forum, the Asian Concerns Task Force, and other Asian community organizations, boards, and committees.

Chitra Schlotterbeck, Bilingual Outreach Worker, received one of this fall's four (4) community service awards given by the Washington State Thai Association. Ms. Schlotterbeck provides interpretation, translation, transportation and paperwork assistance for Indochinese refugees in the areas of housing, food, medical care, immigration, and legal concerns.

Tacoma Community House currently provides employment, outreach, English language, mental health, and recreation services for Asian immigrants and refugees. The agency is located at 1311 South M St. and is a member of United Way of Pierce County.

$1 BILLION AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON -- NAACP Executive Director Benjamin L. Hooks today signed a fair share agreement with the Edison Electric Institute and the American Gas Association that will provide more than $1 billion in jobs, contracts and related economic benefits. The agreement was signed by George H. Lawrence, president of AGA, and William McCollam, Jr., EEI president.

Immediately upon concluding the quiet ceremony at the offices of the Edison Electric Institute in Washington, Mr. Hooks announced that the national NAACP office was sending out model copies of agreements to regional offices and branches across the country so that they might work out similar affirmative action agreements with utility companies in their areas. "By the beginning of 1983," Mr. Hooks said, "there should be at least 50 negotiations underway with electric and gas companies."

Though local branches will spearhead and conduct negotiations, they will have guidance and help from the NAACP national fair share director, Fred Rasheed, and his assistant L.R. Bird, southeast regional faire share director, whose office is located in Greenville, SC. Additionally, the seven NAACP regional field directors will assist the branches.

The Minister gave himself no credit for these results which is ongoing. He claimed to do no more than to deliver the truth of and about the Honorable Elijah Muhammad. He stated time and again that the God of his truth backed it and that these were among the main underlying factors of his success.

At the core of his message was the identification of the Honorable Elijah Muhammad as the Christ, who is prophesied of in the Old Testament and presented in the New Testament.

The prime preacher of Jesus as the Christ in the New Testament is Paul, whose conversion to Jesus was strikingly similar to that of Umar to Muhammad of Arabia 1,400 years ago (so says Mr. Michael H. Hart in his book The 100 Ranking of The Most Influential Persons In History).

The prime preacher of the Honorable Elijah Muhammad as the Christ today is Minister Louis Farrakhan.

PART 11

We are considering the work of Minister Louis Farrakhan, especially the significance of his near 300,000 mile-near 50 city tour in 1981--a most significant year.

One cannot but think of Paul's Travels in connection with the magnificent work being done by this unusual brother.

Now, in order to make the major point to be made in this series we must have some understanding of the uses of a thing called analogy. Generally speaking an analogy involves showing the similarity in some respects between things otherwise unlike; that partially resemble one another. More specifically (in the science of logic) it is the inference that certain admitted resemblances imply probable further similarities.

Analogies are properly used to help one see what you are trying to get them to see. Up to a point analogies may provide some evidence that may lead to proof. However, analogies by themselves do not have the power to produce proof. No one can prove the truth of any argument or case solely through the use of analogies. Anyone who tries to do so is either lacking in understanding of the nature of analogies, evidence and proof, OR is a double minded deceiver.

Analogies are properly used, to put it very simply, to help others see what you see. Naturally, helping another see what you see does not mean that what you see is true..Nor do we prove as true (in the ultimate sense of the word) a fact to be a fact by merely stating that what we see is a fact.

Generally speaking, it takes less time to state something to be a fact than to prove that what is stated is true. With all this understood let us move to Jesus and Paul of the Past and the Honorable Elijah Muhammad and Minister Louis Farrakhan of the present.
